LAND USE PLAN

A component of the Comprehensive Plan for Indianapolis and Marion County

We're updating the Marion County Land Use Plan!

The Land Use Plan provides a vision for land development, and will shape the growth of Indianapolis throughout the coming decades.

THE PLAN

The Land Use Plan is one way to implement the community's hopes for development. It tells us what you want to see in your neighborhood - like retail shops, houses and apartments, parks, and civic space.

THE PROCESS

The written component of the Marion County Land Use Plan, the Land Use Pattern Book, was completed in 2017. The next phase in the Land Use Planning process is to create a Land Use Map. This is your opportunity to identify areas of the city for specific uses.

GET INVOLVED

There are three big ways to get involved in the Land Use Mapping process!

- 1 Online. You can view draft maps and provide feedback through an online mapping tool at www.plan2020.com/landuse
- 2 Attend a Community Meeting. City planning staff are hosting public meetings all over the county. Go to www.plan2020.com/landuse to find out more.
- 3 Talk to your Land Use Planner. City planning staff are holding remote office hours throughout the county. No appointment necessary! Go to www.plan2020.com/landuse for dates, times, and locations.

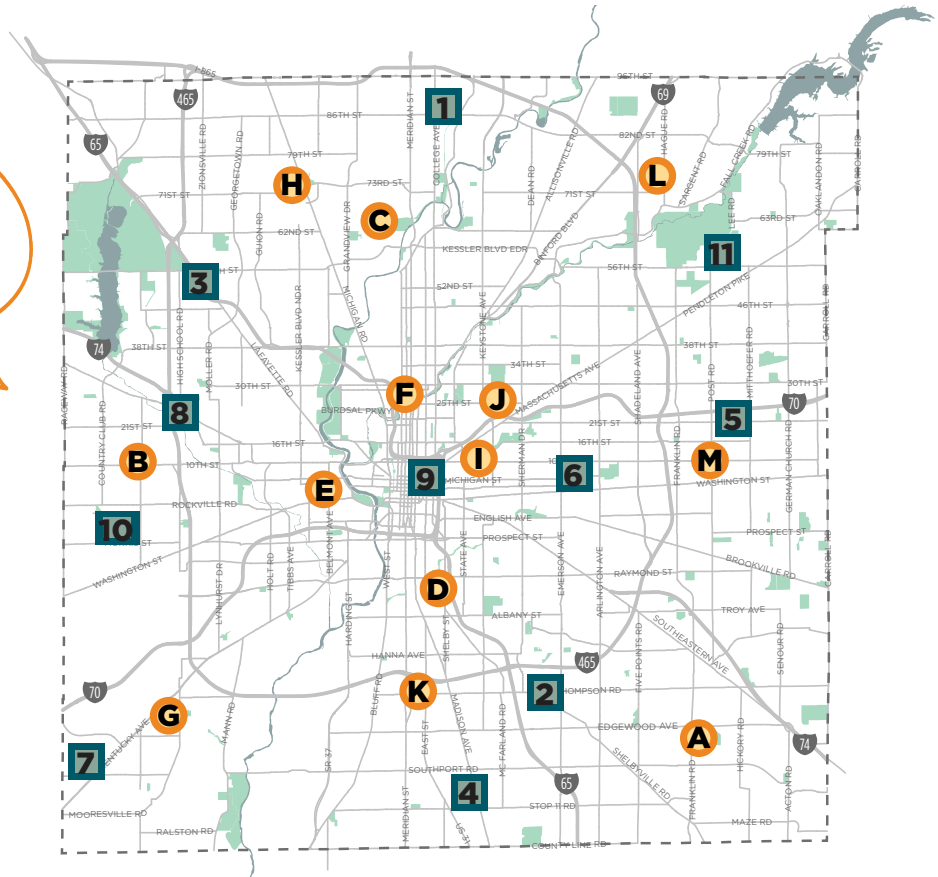

The Marion County Land Use Plan update is part of the Plan 2020 initiative. Find out more at plan2020.com/landuse
